Looking For A Way To Simplify Complex Software Processes?

Announcement

UK, February 2023.

A Central UK Government Department was facing the challenge of needing to simplify complex software processes. Assima Solutions was the perfect solution! Our results are proven through customer stories exactly like this one from their Digital Training Lead. They said, “We have found Assima to be an intuitive tool that can break complex software processes into manageable microlearning chunks available for users on any device. Assima offers a range of diverse range of functions within the software to deliver these products and the diversity of exportable products such as PDF or SCORM, and the combination of visual, audible, and written help and support through the products has been thoroughly useful. Working alongside subject matter experts, Assima has made the process of simplifying complex steps straightforward and certainly beats using text-assisted screenshots.”

Since 2002, we’ve helped the world’s largest companies and governments empower employees to practice on new technologies, embrace change and reach mastery. We’d be delighted to show you how Assima helps public institutions and governments onboard users faster and increase productivity. Learn more here.
